Hard Surfaces

For fresh urine deposits: Wipe urine up with a paper towel. Spray the area until it is completely saturated and allow to air-dry. After urine and stains have been removed, remove any residue by blotting it with some water and a paper towel. For old urine stains: Repeat steps daily until the odour is neutralised.

Subfloor

For fresh urine deposits: Spray the area until saturated and cover with plastic wrap to keep moist. After urine and stains have been removed, remove any residue by blotting it with some water and a paper towel. For old urine stains: Repeat steps daily until the odour is neutralised.

Carpet / Fabric

For fresh urine deposits: Wipe urine up with a paper towel. Spray the area until both the urine stain and underlying padding are completely saturated. Make sure the underlying padding is sufficiently saturated, as urine creeps through underlying fabric/padding and creates a stain 2 – 4 times bigger than might be visible from the surface. Urine Off must come into contact with all of the urine in order to remove all of the odour and stains. Allow it to air-dry – do not scrub it! For old urine stains: It may be necessary to repeat the aforementioned steps daily before the urinary crystals can be completely broken down and the odour is neutralised. Rinse with a little water after last use and remove any residue by blotting it with some water and a paper towel. The longer the surface is saturated with Urine Off, the better the results will be. Use a plastic wrap to slow down evaporation and allow the area to remain moist for longer. Treat the affected area with Urine Off before using shampoo to clean the carpet or other fabric.
